John Goodrich

*23 encounters with color:
landscapes, still lifes, figure paintings*

FEBRUARY 25 - MARCH 22, 2014

Bowery Gallery is pleased to present an exhibition of recent paintings by John Goodrich. Working freely in oil paint, the artist brings intense, modulated color to 23 landscapes, still lifes and figure paintings.

The artist states:

Painting for me is primarily a visual experience, much as music is an aural one. In any painting, color imparts more than atmosphere; it gives weight to movement. The precedents set by the masters inspire my own struggles to locate character through form—that is, to make objects real within the formal language of paint.

A preview of works in the exhibition is available at www.bowerygallery.org/goodrich.html

The artist's paintings have appeared in group shows at Lori Bookstein Fine Art, Elizabeth Harris Gallery and Kouros Gallery in New York City. His work has been reviewed in The New York Times, The New York Sun, and The New York Observer. A writer on art, he currently contributes reviews to artcritical.com, cityarts.info, and hyperallergic.com.

There will be a reception from 5-8pm on Thursday, February 27.

The artist will give a talk at the gallery at 6:30pm on Wednesday, March 12.

Gallery hours are 11am to 6pm Tuesday through Saturday. For more information, please contact the gallery at 646-230-6655 or info@bowerygallery.org
